

Types of Investments

Waud Capital Partners invests in the following types of private equity transactions:

Growth equity financings

The firm will consider equity investments in companies seeking capital to finance internal growth or follow-on acquisitions.

Recapitalizations

Waud Capital Partners provides the owners of closely held businesses with liquidity while allowing them to retain significant ownership and day-to-day operational control.

Industry consolidations

The firm partners with experienced management teams to create leading companies in fragmented industries. WCP proactively identifies industries poised for consolidation and invests in businesses whose market position, profitability and value can be enhanced through complementary acquisitions.

Generational changes of ownership

WCP offers owners of family businesses complete or partial liquidity while providing an active role for subsequent generations. The firm is committed to working with family members, management and employees to create value and preserve a company's culture and legacy.

Acquisition of corporate divisions/subsidiaries

WCP invests with management teams to acquire non-strategic divisions/subsidiaries of larger corporations. Once independent, these businesses are able to pursue stand-alone growth strategies led by our operating partners who have significant equity ownership.
